Well the year got off to a great start with our first meeting of the year.

Marion our vice chair kicked off the research evening with some great tips on starting and growing your family tree. She explained her own research and how she had been able to engage with others and how this had helped her to go further back than she ever thought she could. She also explained that she also turned her findings into a small booklet. There was lots to encourage and to inspire. It did come with a warning however?

'This hobby is very addictive' said Marion.

Carol our magazine editor followed Marion with a short talk about a member of her family. A little girl called Lalla who was her great aunt.

There is a statue of Lalla in Chesterfield's Queens park. The statue used to stand by the cricket pitch but is now in the conservatory to preserve her.

The little girl stands with a rose in her hands and these are hidden behind her back. Carol told of the myth that went with the statue how she had dropped dead on the spot when the gardener caught her pinching the rose.

Carol then told the real story that the rose was from her own garden and it was Lalla's father who was a sculpture, and he created the pose of his little daughter, capturing her innocence.

Lalla grew up and moved away, only to return to visit her sick brother later on in life when she was around 70, she crossed a road in Chesterfield in a hurry and was killed. So, a sad end to a lovely story.

Full story in the March Magazine.....

Inspired by the talks individual and group researching commenced.

Thanks to all who attended for making it a very enjoyable evening.

NEWS for the FFHS

Awards in the New Year
Honours List

CADFHS join the federation with congratulations to Pauline Litton MBE and Brenda Murray BEM.

Pauline Litton has been made a Member of the Order of the British Empire. The award was made for services to genealogy and family history. This is the first award of this kind for 'family history' in the UK and we are justifiably proud of Pauline and everything she has done to further our hobby.

Brenda Murray BEM

We also congratulate Brenda Murray who has been awarded the British Empire Medal in the New Year Honours List. Brenda is a member of the Liverpool and South West Lancashire Family History Society and received the award for 'Services to Heritage and History'.

Brenda, aged 88 was quoted in the local press as saying that her family were very excited about her honour and she was looking forward to going to Buckingham Palace. How nice and we wish them both all the very best for an enjoyable day.
